

Saosin, Love Maker

Run away and play your games Hide well so I can't find you I'll wait for summer to come then laugh as the trees burn down around you your body was just a test for me and if I run as fast as I can the thought of your memory will catch up with me
will catch up with me
I'm always late with my words
We tried so hard I should have told you but I never really cared you always mislead me
You always got the worst of me
Its a shame that your still lying broken here In this moment everything just seems so clear because,
Her body was just a test you see If you run as fast as you can the thought of my memory will catch up you see
I'm always late with my words
We tried so hard, we tried so hard
I should have told you but I never really cared at
You always mislead me when summer passes, I'll let go and if you don't feel then just take yourself out and when summer passes let me know so I can find meaning to live
I'm always late with my words
We tried so hard, we tried so hard
I should have told you
but I never really cared at
You always mislead me