

Sara Evans, True Lies

I look into those blue eyes
Something happens to me
Although I know again tonight
I'll hear nothing but true lies

That string of broken hearts all over town
Should be enough to tell me
I should be turning you down, then

I look into those blue eyes
Something happens to me
Although I know again tonight
I'll hear nothing but true lies

True lies will hurt me less than losing you
So darling lie to me
When I get lost in those blue eyes

I should know better than to let you in
We're just beginning
And I can already see the end, when

When I look into those blue eyes
Something happens to me
Although I know again tonight
I'll hear nothing but true lies
Although I know again tonight
I'll hear nothing but true lies