

Sarah Bettens, Sister

Sister I know there been times
When you didn't think I,
Was a very good friend
Sister you must think I'm out of my mind
It's a struggle sometimes to pretend
But I know what I'm doing,
I know who I am
I know how it works and
I'll see where it ends

Sister I need you more now than I ever did
I've been thinking again, I've been thinking again

Life can be tricky,
And sneak up on you
Like a tiger looking for pray
We've had our share of surprises,
There must be a good one coming our way
'Cause we're really all looking,
We're really all lost
The less we expect,
The smaller the costs

Sister I miss you more now, then I ever did
I've been thinking again, I've been thinking again

Things that aren't funny,
Are funny with you
So I'm better when you are around
I might say I don't need any advice
But I wear the clothes that I found
In the back of your closet,
Wherever you hide
Secrets that nobody ever will find

Sister I love you more, then I ever did
I've been thinking again, I've been thinking again

Sister I love you more, then I ever did
I've been thinking again, I've been thinking again
