

Sarah Masen, Tears Like Flowers

Things are getting clearer now like water like healing
Time is moving everything faster than I've ever felt before And tears are like flowers
Pulled up by the sun
Feeling like a coward
Under my own gun
And the mystery the mystery of
When the wind falls through places such as stone Similar to flesh sometimes
When the water is scarce
And your tongue is so dry
And you're looking so scared
But then you know why
Because it comes down like it knows who and where you are So you cry healing waters come on down
Healing waters come on down
And the moonlight touches it's brother
And darling does it have to end with two Because someone's undercover and they're staring hard at you And they w be discovered want to know what's true Can you run like you know who and where they are
So they cry healing waters come on down
Healing waters come on down
Keep holding on Giving out the best that you can give Sometimes we're not that strong Keep praying for the healing don't give in Don't give in Healing waters
(You're not in this alone)
Cleansing waters
(You're not in this alone)
