Sarah McLachlan, Black & White

unravel me a distant cord on the outside is forgotten a constant need to get along and the animal awakens and all I feel is black and white the road is long the memory slides to the whole of my undoing put aside I put away I push it back to get through each day and all I feel is black and white and I'm wound up small and tight and I don't know who I am everybody loves you when you're easy everybody hates when you're a bore everyone is waiting for your entrance so don't disappoint them unravel me untie this chord the very centre of our union is caving in I can't endure I am the archive of our failure and all I feel is black and white and I'm wound up small and tight and I don't know who I am everybody loves you when you're easy everybody hates when you're a bore everyone is waiting for your entrance so don't disappoint them everybody loves you when you're easy so don't disappoint them don't disappoint them ...
