Sasha Strunin, Game Over

You here all alone Memories of the past still haunt my bones And after all is shown My heart froze up than turned to stone

Now that I am free My strength has grown They never put their trust in me I let them go You lie and deceive like devil's breed You've lost control My loss is such a relieve

Game over
My brain can't take no more
Playing soldier
You won the fight, I'll win the war

No more weight to tie me down I finally made true honest ground

Notice how the people Change when you've had enough The way they Swallow up their pride and And let you call out their bluff Game over, I see your destiny Over, over, over

No time to wait for change Nothing you can dream is out of reach Feel the passion run through your veins Let it kill your pain, you be you, you will see

Now that you are free Your strength will grow You've got to start to self believe Just let it go! Try to believe and just proceed Now take control! Your loss will put you at ease

Game over My brain can't take no more Playing soldier You won the fight, I'll win the war

No more weight to tie me down I finally made true honest ground

Notice how the people Change when you've had enough The way they Swallow up their pride and Let you call out their bluff Game over, I see your destiny Over, over, over

All the time that I spent With these thoughts on my mind Always crying myself to sleep

Had to learn life the hard way Learn to be careful

Learn to fight for myself

No matter what they do to you No matter what they say to you Believe in the strength inside of you They won't ever break us down

Game over My brain can't take no more Playing soldier You won the fight, I'll win the war

No more weight to tie me down I finally made true honest ground
