

Savage, Goodbye

Another cigarette picked up my keys and left
Those walls were closing in on me
The rain was falling down. I felt my heart just pound
With thoughts of how we used to be
It started months ago. Your distance on the phone
I tried to change so we'd agree
Do what you want to do. I know that we are through
But tell me why you had to leave
Goodbye. Lonely words are in my mind
Your eyes don't hide, your love has died
You're touchin' someone else tonight
So goodbye. Don't forget that you were mine
I'll try to keep my tears inside. Goodbye
The clock is ticking loud. It seems the only sound
That fills this empty place of need
Reflections on your face. Your lighter near the vase
Your lipstick on the glass by mes
