

Savage Grace, Into The Fire

Too many battles I've seen, my hell never ending
So many dreams of good men they never shall dream
Life after life has gone by, without ever taking
The road to the meaning of what, of what it all means
So don't stand in our way. Die for our sins.

Cry for our souls

We choose our own fate. Answer to none.

Defy Them all

We'll dare to go

INTO THE FIRE. INTO THE FIRE.

We show no remorse for the deeds of death and destruction

The call that we heed, let us fight without fear

The glorious victories we won can not satisfy me

For I know the next day's attack just might be my last

Too many battles I've seen, my hell never ending

So many dreams of good men they never shall dream

The glorious victories we won can not satisfy me

For I know the next day's attack just might be my last
