

Saves The Day, Head For The Hills

Burning the door in the back of my mind
Lying alone in the morning light feel like swallowing my eyes
I walk around the house until
My feet begin to bleed
Still I can't forget somehow

Drowning in the darkness of my mind
I dream of setting fire to everything in sight
And if I die tonight and go to Hell, oh well
I wonder will I see you?

Cut off my legs when you tell me to walk
Slit my own throat when you say to talk
I've been swallowing your lies
And I recall you asked about
The one you used to know,
but I don't know him now

Drowning in the darkness of my mind
I dream of setting fire to everything in sight
And if I die tonight and go to Hell, oh well
I wonder will I see you?

My heart is burning black
My bones are cold and cracked
The venom flushed out my veins
And if you ever know what I'm dreaming of
You would head for the hills

(Woohoo-woo-oooo)
You'd better head for the hills
(Woohoo-woo-oooo)
You'd better head for the hills

Drowning in the darkness of my mind
I dream of setting fire to everything in sight
And if I die tonight and go to Hell, oh well
I wonder will I see you?