

Say Anything, Rock My World

today I sat and smoked myself a cancer thinking about the dancer at the bar but how was I to know that this crush would grow and grow till it became a love eclipsing every star and yes I know my addictions from the gambit the smokes, the booze, the drugs, the 24 but you helped make the turkey colder and since I'm not bipolar let me list those things about you I adore: you're beautiful you're freckled slightly you're laugh's mighty expressive, flexible, not wound up tightly and that is why you should rock my world

I knew that you were peeking when I met you for years I did undress you from afar but now you're free to be an open sore like me I would like to know just where you hide those scars you curve right where you should when you're a lady but you're slender, sleek, and somewhat sleepy eyed a typically emoting I'm Bono lyric quoting like I'd sell my soul to kneel between your thighs you're starry-eyed, you're warm-glancing entrancing and you're amused by my sick sad.. prancing and that is why you should rock my world I want you you're where I want you to lay my head want you where I want you lay my head (x3)

with like wonder
I plunder
the village idiot but I become her that is why
you should rock my
that is why
that is why
you should be my girl

(guitar)

but I can't have you so I watch frozen scars on the way home I watch frozen scars on the way back home (x3)