

Saybia, Empty Stairs

Empty stairs in a worn out house That's where she stays where she hides out locked up safe she explores her pain until she leaves to explore the night that's all she knows it's a poisoned rose it's all she wants when she glides into the night but all she needs is to open up her eyes and she knows it's here it echoes in her mind she will be found when her feet hits the ground locked up safe she explores her pain
until she leaves to explore the night
that's all she knows it's a poisoned rose
it's all she wants when she glides into the night
but all she needs is to open up her eyes
and she knows it's here it echoes in her mind
she will be found when her feet hits the ground