

Scarlet, The Man In Me

There's some things I want you to know
I'm not yet quite sure but I'll explain as I go
There was something you said the other day
When you misunderstood what I was trying to say
You think I'm together and sussed
That casual affairs and a laugh is enough
But you only know one side of me
Well it's not real what you see
That's just the man in me

I might be loud and I swear
And the way I wear my hair
And I don't wear skirts
Doesn't mean I don't get hurt
I might not act the girlie way
That doesn't mean to say I'm gay
But there's another side of me that you should know

You think that I'm cool 'cos I'm one of the boys
That's one side of me that gets heard above the noise
There was something you did just the other day
When you let me walk home in the dark all the way
I hate to be merely a meek
In fear that I won't get taken seriously
But you only know one side of me
Well it's not real what you see
That's just the man in me

I might be wild and I drink and I'm tough and strong I think and I don't wear heels
Doesn't mean that I don't feel
I might not try to be naive
'Cos doesn't vulnerable mean weak
And doesn't weak mean independence has to go?
I might be hard, I play to win
That doesn't mean I won't give in
But there's another side of me that you should know

I see you're confused I can tell
The look in your eyes says you don't know me so well
But you only know one side of me
That I've let you see
That's just the man in me
That's just the man in me.
