

Scars Of Life, Purity

Sometimes I wish that I could be your mind unscared
I envy that you dont know what its like to be destroyed

I make the chains undone but I dont feel complete a puzzle with a missing piece I hate what I've become..

Sometimes I wish that I could be your eyes so blind
To look away from a world that pushes you aside

At last my eyes have opeaned Your the cancer I've removed You should have given me once more chance to prove my worth to you

I have worth..WORTH!

Sanctify..

Sometimes I wish that I could be your lips so clean to keep my mouth shut and not say all these words I didn't meant