Scars Of Tomorrow, Abandonment

Standing on our own
We've witnessed a change
In the way we live our lives
We have abandoned everything

You only see what your heart will let you Free your heart Your soul condemned by hatred like a rusted knife Impaled in our wounds

And we see in our hearts and in our dreams Take us back when time was born Take us back and there is so much more We have witnessed everything What's in our hearts

You try to be something that you can't be Free your heart Standing on our own Free your heart