

Scenes From A Movie, Hang Your Halo

Maybe I'm just waiting for the day that you took enough white pills to say,
This is the first time that I really feel alive.
And maybe I'm just waiting for the call that you took nothing else at all
and that tonight would be a great night,
a great night for a drive.

You say that you can't help the way you feel.
Well nothing feels like feeling nothing.

Lets wear these sheets around as clothes.
And wear deceit around as robes that we can hide in.
Hang your halo where you know you'll find it.
Lets speak in whispers and in codes.
And cross our fingers no one knows where all our secrets are kept between our ears
where we will keep them locked away.

You say that you can't help the way you feel.
Well nothing feels like feeling nothing.
This way you don't ever have to know if it's for real.
Cause really feelings over rated.

This is the way that everyone said it would be.
I closed my eyes so that maybe I wouldn't see.
You closed your heart so you couldn't get close to me.
t was easy. I was just so easy.

You say that you can't help the way you feel.
Well nothing feels like feeling nothing.
This way you don't ever have to know if it's for real.
Cause really feelings over rated.
