Scorpions, Trought Me Eyes

Leaving through the back door Freezing in the cold Communication breakdown Emotional overload Been through a wall of fire Now I feel like, the ashes glow Cars passing on the freeway My mind is on the run I keep running from my shadow Im not the only one Somewhere in the distance Someones taking flight Destination unknown Just fade into the light Theres so much said and done But after all The time has come, to leave it all If you could see it through my eyes Yous know I tried to change it all Ive been trying all my life To stand up every time I fall If you could see it through my eyes I feel sadness up my spine The future on my hands Im standing here alone With open arms again Tomorrow aint no stranger Therell be a lucky star And love will find its way Into someones heart Too late for tears No time to be confused Its just the echo of our Swan song If you could see it through my eyes Yous know I tried to change it all Ive been trying all my life To stand up every time I fall If you could see it through my eyes Youd see that love will always wait Somewhere out there is my life A new love that comes my way If you could see it through my eyes Through my eyes What was meant to be forever Is breaking all apart What was meant to be forever Leaves the hole inside my heart What was meant to be forever We throw it all away What was meant to be forever Was nothing but a game What was meant to be forever Is breaking all apart What was meant to be forever