

Scott Stapp, Relearn Love

On a dark and lonely highway...
I need the SON to raise my head.
I come before you' I am naked...
The man I am now must be shed.
I've weathered storms and I am broken.
My beaten heart is in your hands...
What I really need is shelter and a chance

To relearn love...
Teach me all over'all over...
To relearn love...
Show me again...
So I can relearn love...

The Comfort of your arms around me...
Your tender hands caress my head
I lay beside you I m not worthy
This jaded mans not who I am
I've touched the flame and I've been burned
All I need is a second chance
Give me eyes of a child
And teach this man'to relearn love

Teach me all over'all over
To relearn love'.show me again
To relearn love'teach me all over'all over
To relearn love'show me again
So I can relearn love

I was selfish'but you still loved me
You gave the greatest gift of all and it set me free
When time means nothing and your world is standing still
Listen world he's calling when you feel me drop and kneel
Can you feel it?
Just remember, oh oh remember...
To relearn love

Relearn my love
Show me, show me
To relearn my love
Teach me now'now
Relearn my love
To relearn, relearn my love

So I can relearn love...
