

Scotty Don't, Everything's Alright

I'm at the end of the middle sneakin' out of the back door
At the beginning that we called the finish line yesterday
A new day like a fresh coat of paint just a haze on the old mistakes
But it's good enough to scrape by and dodge a little decay

I need some electricity
To fill the lightbulb that's been dimming inside my brain
Cause day out, day in everyone's throwing me excuses and they're gonna drive me insane
Every time I add it up, oh yeah I catch somebody subtractin' me
Getting in a bit of trouble to alleviate the struggle I'm a victim of a third degree

Gotta get me high and dry
Under that big blue sky
With a slow down circle and a body of a goddess that'll tell me everything's alright

Gotta get me high and dry
Under that big blue sky
With a slow down circle and a body of a goddess that'll tell me everything's alright

Alright alright

Gotta get me high and dry
Under that big blue sky
With a slow down circle and a body of a goddess that'll tell me everything's alright

Gotta get me high and dry
Under that big blue sky
With a slow down circle and a body of a goddess that'll tell me it's alright!
