

Screaming Trees, Direction of the sun

Fade into the picture and you're always there
Your longing liquid fingers and a bloodshot stare
Screamin' like the way I hear an angel sing
Call you once I fall away from everything
Oh I know

We've already gone
In the direction of the sun
In the direction of the sun
I hid behind the curtain where the serpent wailed
Watch a million miles go by around your head
Close enough to feel all the cold inside
I've seen you shake and now I know why

Oh I know it's already gone

In the direction of the sun

In the direction of the sun

(repeat first verse)

In the direction of the sun (4x)
