Screaming Trees, Lay Your Head Down

Nowhere is the soul I felt Now I've lost my way Nowhere is the place I've been Promise not to stay How it was and always is Sometimes it never will begin And it won't take very long (too long) If you come around If it all goes wrong You can lay your head down Nothing is inside the hollow shell I left behind Nothing left of innocence It's drifting with the tide How It was and always is May be it never will begin And it won't take very long (too long) If you come around If it all goes wrong You can lay your head down
