

Seabound, Watching Over You

From the ice, the blinding white
A schooner's gliding through the night
Angry sea, we sail alone
At last I'm going home

I'm going home

Phantoms lured me off my course
Tried to kill the man I was
You sent a guiding light
Lead me to my lavish bride

To the crag that braves the tide
To the beacon in the night
I trust in you (and)
I'm watching over you
To the souls that crouch in fear
To the ghosts that disappear
I trust in you (and)
I'm watching over you

To the crag that braves the tide
To the beacon in the night
I trust in you (and)
I'm watching over you
To the souls that crouch in fear
Your ghosts will disappear
I trust in you (and)
I'm watching over you

Seasons change, this time for good
Be this message understood
You're the house I occupy
You're the only reason why

I'm still alive