

Seals and Crofts, Hustle

(lyrics by Paul Williams; music by Charles Fox, 1977)
From the album ONE ON ONE (1977).

Pull the stops out, watch my hustle.
Would you believe I was once a . . . [?]
Would you believe I was even as shy as a child.
It's so hard for the mind to fathom, so don't try.

I feel like tripping the light fantastic. I've never been more enthusiastic.
My mind. . . [?]
I'm a stone gladiator on a mood elevator. In the thick of the fight, I just smile.
Pull the stops out, watch my hustle.
(repeat)