Sear Bliss, Aeons Of Desolation

The wind sighed among the trees The fallen leafs crackled On the sleeping landscape

It was a sad, still voice And I hear, only I hear it The only human being in the night

Among the hungry shadows Who are smelling the breeze Which is carrying the secret dreams Hidden desires I hear as the wind brings it towards me

And from the impasse it always returns I hear Only I hear it As the naked wind weeps through the night