Sebadoh, Forced Love

She don't need the guilt, she don't need the pressure But she craves a guilty pleasure She has no conscience, call her a seeker Let her know if she can please you, she's eager to please you Pitbull, heartbreaker, forced love dictator Is she as shallow as she seems? Sweet, yet heartless; mindful, yet thoughtless Left a kiss to find a conflict of interest Gave myself away by what I didn't say I tried to talk, but my pride got in the way And I would never dare to break her heart Too scared and selfish to watch my security fall Pitbull, heartbreaker, forced love dictator The boy that crippled all her dreams Sweet, yet heartless; mindful, yet thoughtless Left a kiss to find a conflict of interest And I would never dare to break her heart Too scared and selfish to watch my security fall Take me back, I'm not proud To share the glory if I'm allowed to Cuz nothing can be lost This magic never existed, I hope I never miss it Leave it alone, let it die It can't be worth the pain we've hidden Nothing will be lost; a love that couldn't be trusted Is it worth the time that we'll abuse?
