

Secret Discovery, American Lifestyle

When I see you dancing now, when I hear your smile, there's a feeling I detest, what could be behind this and I open you the door just to let it in,
this feeling that I mean,
to come over me
just a feeling, just a try to be one of you, and I really ask me why to accept your rules I don't need the American Lifestyle and I don't dream the American Dream and I don't live the American Lifestyle, I don't need...
And I dedicate myself,
like a modern toy,
to some moments of delight, to some days of joy then I start to realise what I leave behind, and I ask me where I am,
where I lost my pride
just a feeling...
