

Secret Lives Of The Freemasons, It Only Took A

YEAH!

Run through the woods to the house on the hill the one we'll make warm as soon as we get in or should i say as soon as i get in. so can i ravage you right where you stand your heart on your sleeve and my love in your hand and this is going exactly as i planed so tonight we explore the boundaries the skin has offered the voice pitches out and it goes yeah yeah yeah with your bright eyes and your green lights and a night we wont forget for the rest of our lives we then hit the ground as hard as we can your back to the floor and my head on your chest and i must say the beast in you is showing you grab for the air as if something is there something watching this machine we have built is this love or is it just pure sin break out your punches this is a night for the rest of our lives you play in love your hardly ever stay in love its safe to say you've given up on your heart burning our open mouths our eyes our eyes
