Secret Machines, I Want To Know

I want to know if it's still possible
To find a place that's ours
Maybe there's a world that's still invisible
A murmur coming from the stars

'Cause if it's real
Then I have never noticed
Hidden by the frost that I
Designed and I
Was there the entire time

Don't worry, I'm much too proud
To face the light of your eyes
Crushing stars we collide
What makes us

I want to know if it's still possible
Beneath the endless night
Walking past the window to your bedroom
But the curtains holding back the light of your heart

I wonder if you'd seen me
I wonder if I caught your eye
I wonder if you had ever noticed
That I was always passing by

Why should I?
It was the only time
