Your appearance looks like mine
It echoes in my chest as I cry silently

They say that it is better to know nothing
But I'm not satisfied with that Even in this night lying down in emptiness
I decided to live now that's all

Your speed resembles mine

I become afraid of a sky unaffected by any brake
How long do I have to hold out?
We can end this together

I had to take the difficult road by all means
I can't dust these shoes stained with sand
I can only live this way
You will smile and nod, won't you if it's you

Let me make a promise
When you come running to me
I won't look away from your eyes
And I will catch you better than anyone else

Your appearance looks like mine
that there's someone looking at the same world
No way I can lose my heart at the end
As you can keep loving me
I'm kept alive
