

Seether, Walk Away From The Sun

Walk away from the sun
come slowly undone
I can see in your eyes,
I've already won.

I could bleed for a smile
I could cry for some fun

Walk away from the sun
and tell everyone

yeah

there's so much left in the end
So much to tell from the stares(?)
There's so much left to defend
but I am no fun

So turn away from the wall
as you hurt everyone
I can tell by your smile you're coming undone
I could bleed for a smile
I could die for a gun
Walk away from the sun and kill everyone

yeah

So tiny dancer be aware we medicated in scales this smile is so hard to wear but I have no gun

So turn away from the wall
as you hurt everyone
I can tell by your smile your coming undone
I could bleed for a smile
I could die for a gun
Walk away from the sun and kill everyone

And you're fading with everyday (you could have been the next one, should've been the next one after me)
And you're fading with everyday
(you could have been the next one, should've been in there after me)
And you're fading with everyday
(you could have been the next one, should've been in there after me)
And you're fading with everyday (woah)

There's so much left in the end
so much left to tell from the stares there's so much left to defend
but I am no fun

And you're fading with everyday
(you could have been the next one, should've been in there after me)
And you're fading with everyday
(you could have been the next one, should've been in there after me)
And you're fading with everyday
(you could have been the next one, should've been in there after me)
And you're fading with everyday

(Walk away from the sun)
And you're fading with everyday
(Walk away from the sun)
And you're fading with everyday
(Walk Away From the Sun)
And you're fading with everyday
(walk away from the sun)
And you're fading with everyday

Thanks to blabla for adding these lyrics