Sega Sound Studio, Shadow's Theme

everybody tries to be straight but things are still unchanged it's useless to resist their effort will be wasted head straight for your goal by any means the window and door are open there is a window with a view you have never seen get there no matter how long it takes chorus

oh dark the darkness that dozes in the dusk throw it all away
no one can break you nobody can tear you you live an endless life forever
oh dark the darkness that dozes in the dusk
throw it all away
you see a light where ever you go you have to face it again and again

now

oh dark the darkness that dozes in the dusk throw it all away no one can break you no body can tear you you live an endless life forever oh dark the darkness that dozes in the dusk throw it all away you see a light where ever you go you have to face it again and again