

Selfmindead, Under The Water

The fire is out
And the temperature is falling
No one will survive
It's getting so cold

Nothing left to say
When the fire has stopped burning
When the lights are fading out
I'll put my head back down
Under the water

Silence has taken over
The last words have been spoken
We're all just waiting for our last breath

This is our own fault
We have ourselves to blame
Somewhere down the line
We stopped to care

Nothing left to say
When the fire has stopped burning
When the lights are fading out
I'll put my head back down
Under the water

I'll put my head back down
I'll put my head back down