

Sense Field, Fun Never Ends

back then we wished that we were older waiting for the summer everything was new, when everything was fun she would come over and slip into the water i wonder if she knew that she was the one, everybody wanted, every night she haunted us in our dreams then you wake up all alone

all's fair in love and war, til it feels like you're dying alone Tears turn to waterfalls but I'd taste tears over nothing at all

that feeling of the hunger, to want to try everything and anything we want frustration and the anger, never thinking of the danger or how we'd make it through never thinking someone won't

the fun never ends
fun never ends,
the fun never ends
til you bury a friend, til you bury a friend, til you bury a friend

that feeling of the hunger, to want to try everything and anything we want frustration and the anger, never thinking of the danger, or how we'd make it through

fun never ends ... fun never ends ... fun never ends til you bury a friend, bury a friend, bury a friend til you bury a friend, bury a friend, bury a friend
til you bury a friend, bury a friend, bury a friend
