

Serafin, Things Fall Apart

Every tired second,
Every heavy page,
They fold into a nightmare,
They almost turn to rage.
I felt like I was draining,
I should have been happy.
And no one should need nothing,
You never needed me.
And it's always raining.
And it's always raining.
Californian girlfriend,
I am calling from the end.
Californian girlfriend,
Things will fall apart again.
Everything you gave me,
Everything you know,
It's my newest form of torture,
My newest broken bow.
I'm running out of fortune,
I'm running out of pain,
And I benefit from sadness
And sadness cools my brain.
Californian girlfriend,
I am calling from the end.
Californian girlfriend,
Things will fall apart again.
And it's always raining.
And it's always raining.
Californian girlfriend,
I am calling from the end.
Californian girlfriend,
Things will fall apart again.
Californian girlfriend,
I am calling from the end.
Californian girlfriend...