

Sertab Erener, Storms

Sometimes the things I want
Seem so far away
I push, I pull, I cry
But every time I'm given what I need

Hands up to the sky
Not sure who sees my cries
I scream, I shout, I fight
But I forget to step aside

The storms in my heart late at night
Evaporate by morning light
The sun comes up
My fears go down and It's all right

When I can't see past today
Can't see what I have
I beg, I plead, I try
To know inside this too shall pass

The storms in my heart late at night
Evaporate by morning light
The sun comes up
My fears go down and It's all right

Storms in my heart don't frighten me
Cause I know they don't follow me
My faith comes up
My fears go down and It's all right