

Sesame Street, Ernie And Bert Have A Snack

Ernie and Bert are sitting down with pizza and juice. Ernie's serving is noticeably larger than Bert's.

Ernie: "Okay, Bert, here's your glass of ice-cold delicious grape juice, and here's my glass of Bert: "Hold it, Ernie, hold it! (Ernie puts slice down) Do you notice anything? Take a real close

(Five second pause.)

Bert: "Well?"

Ernie: "Well what? It all looks delicious, let's eat!" (grabs slice again)

Bert: "Not so fast! (Ernie puts slice down) Ernie, you have much more grape juice in your glass

Ernie: "Is that so?"

Bert: "Yes, it is. And I have much less grape juice in my glass than you have in your glass. And

Ernie: "Oh, gee I'm sorry. I can fix that!"

Bert: "You can? Well -- (suddenly Ernie starts gobbling pizza) I don't mean fix it THAT way--Ernie Ernie: "There, Bert, it's all fixed! Now you have more juice than I do and I have less juice than

Bert: "I don't understand....."

Ernie: "But wait a minute--that's not fair, I have less, and you have more--" (Bert starts to

Bert: "But, Ernie, you just ate all that--"

Ernie: (at the same time) "I better fix this too--" (Ernie starts drinking Bert's juice, slurp, slurp,

Bert: "But you had your grape--and you had your pizza and--"

(Ernie has finished all but an inch of Bert's juice, turns to Bert's pizza.)

Ernie: "And now I better eat some of your pizza." (starts noshing down)

Bert: (He is resigned, walking away) "Enjoy it, Ernie!"