

Sesame Street, No Matter What

No matter what you look like
No matter what your name
No matter the house you live in
In some ways everybody's the same

You shiver when it's cold out
Feel warm when the sun gets hot
When you're happy you laugh and you giggle
When you're sad you cry a lot
No matter what

No matter big or tiny
Or eyes of brown or blue
No matter the shape of the nose on your face
Some things are true about you, yeah

You shiver when it's cold out
Feel warm when the sun gets hot
When you're happy you laugh and you giggle
When you're sad you cry a lot
No matter what

Skin of brown or yellow
Bodies short or tall
When it comes to feelings
What your body looks like doesn't matter at all
Your hair is loose and wavy
Or else in rows real tight
Gold as the pretty pretty sunshine
Or black as the beautiful night, still

You shiver when it's cold out
Feel warm when the sun gets hot
When you're happy you laugh and you giggle
When you're sad you cry a lot
You shiver when it's cold out
Feel warm when the sun gets hot
When you're happy you laugh and you giggle
When you're sad you cry a lot
And that's true no matter who
No matter what
