

Sesame Street, Wanda The Witch

Announcer: The story of Wanda the witch is brought to you by the letter W.

(Crystal ball shows the letters of the alphabet in rapid succession until it gets to W. Scene changes)

Announcer: Wanda the witch lived somewhere west of Washington.

(Scene changes to show Wanda, an old witch who wears a long black dress and pointed black hat.)

Announcer: Around her waist, instead of a belt, she wore a worm.

(We see a close-up of the worm wiggling around Wanda's waist.)

Announcer: Wanda had a pet weasel.

(Scene changes to show a weasel wearing a collar.)

Weasel: I am a weasel.

Announcer: And on her head, a wiry wig.

(We see a close-up of Wanda's wig, which is made of W's. Scene changes to a calendar and focus)

Announcer: On Wednesday, in the middle of winter, Wanda walked to the well to get water to wash

(A snowman holds up a sign that says "Winter. Then Wanda arrives at the well and tugs at the

Announcer: But the wheel on the well was worn, and Wanda grew weary. So she waved her wand,

(Wanda waves her wand, and we see the word "wand." A washtub appears before her.)

Announcer: But just as Wanda was about to drop her wig into the warm water, a wild wind whipped

(A windstorm marked "Wind" blows Wanda's wig from her hand and out of sight.)

Announcer: Which taught Wanda this lesson: witches who wash their wigs on windy winter Wednes

(Scene changes to show some bald witches dancing around a washtub filled with wigs made of W's)

Announcer: This witch story was brought to you courtesy of the letter W.
