

Seven Nations, The Big Yellow Bus

baby she's nothin' less she can ride i heard her say once she'd rather die then sit around the house and gettin' high but baby she's nothin' less she can ride our love is true love won't ever die something i'm sure of is you and i our love is true love you can't deny
but baby she's nothin' less she can ride
the big yellow bus it's still dark and the radio barks only beatles songs from a to z as she rides on the big yellow bus with me baby she's better when she's alone she talks to her horses and me on the phone school's a distraction music's her life but baby she's nothin' less she can ride

our love is true love won't ever die
our love is true love you can't deny
and the radio barks only beatles songs from a to z
as she rides on the big yellow bus with me

she cried when they told her john lennon died she could have tried harder to hitchhike or something to the city to be with the others who sang and held hands in the park how do we live through the aftermath she had to laugh when our english class was cancelled when the teacher was found in the lounge crying and clutching his old 45s while she rides the big yellow bus it's still dark and the radio barks only beatles songs from a to z
as she rides on the big yellow bus with me
