

Shaded Red, Caught

I can see you bought the delusion
I don't want any more of your lies
Call your bluff, and end the confusion
No more smiles, it tears you inside

Don't go runnin' to all your excuses
All your little thoughts keep flying round
Escape will never come that easy
Your head will spin around
I've caught you now

I can tell your mind's like cold-fusion
Could all work, but not in real life
Pull the plug and break the illusion
Look to me, I'll light you inside

I was good to you
Never was untrue
You went the other way
To lie another day
Still I call to you
Tear my heart in two
Just to let you know
I love you