

Shades Apart, Cathode

who raised the stakes in the foolish game we play a cathode ray
who designed the circuitry we washed away
a thousand ancient mysteries and still confused inside not enough we want the world today rise up we won't just go away you made mistakes
we drink the aftertaste your path erased
a thousand ancient memories we stand in line
still waiting for a sign we burn as one inside
stand up and face
the children you disgraced the mirror breaks
we defy the symmetry
we're not the same
we have our own identity
we burn as one inside