

Shades Apart, On The Inside

Sunburned faces watch a nuclear sky
Initial conflict on the fourth of July
Children hide their heads and wonder why
No one really cares

Crying on the Inside
Surrender

Radio brings in the daily news
The sky's a crisscross of those red whites and blues
If the day should come what would you choose
If the day should ever come now would you really care
