

Shades Apart, Shadow Of A Cross

How do you see yourself
Do you find yourself within
You look for now way out
Can't you be yourself
Separated form all them
You're seeing now way else
How to be yourself
Don't you find the strength within

Living in the shadow of a cross
See there's no real reason to be lost
Or found in someone else
I'm not sorry now

Are you really sure
What you're searching for to see
Or will you even understand
What are you waiting for
'Cause there's so much more to be
And not try so hard to hide
The light you're reaching to
Could be burning bright in you

It's an easy choice
Once you're living at the end
Does it matter either way
It's not such a crucial choice
Just let your heroes die, be them
Doesn't matter either way
Destroy with your own voice
Just don't pretend to know its' the right choice