

Shades Apart, Valentine

Sometimes she fades away she's seen too many movies killing enough rainy days with nothing else to do we'll make our escape like the end of Casablanca taking off from a dark runway with nothing left to lose the sun is shining somewhere somewhere far away

I could sell everything and go there just to hear her say - listen my

Valentine/ Say the line/ We can be famous for tonight Superstar/ There you are/ Bigger than life in black and white Valentine/ Say the line/ We can just leave it all behind Say the line/ my valentine just like Roman Holiday a princess and a schemer killing an ordinary day any way they choose back in Hollywood convertibles and palm trees matinee movie-stars and sunscreen I wonder if it's true the sun is rising somewhere brighter every day we'll forget everything and go there nothing's in the way

Valentine/ Say the line/ We can be famous for tonight
Superstar/ There you are/ Bigger than life in black and white

sometimes she starts to fade with starry eyes she tells me "I want a place in the sun" she's not the only one

somewhere far away
if we just pack our bags and go there everything will change

Valentine/ Say the line/ We can be famous for tonight
Superstar/ There you are/ Bigger than life in black and white
