

Shadow Host, The Inviolable Balance tell me what's happened to me what's happened to my soul I don't know it looks like an endless fall sometimes I feel that someone else hides in me it tries to possess me and wants to break free sometimes it seems to me that my reality was broken and I see black shadow of my inner self walls of cold fear will rise and surround me and I'll feel rising creature's breath between two sides I live my life so far from light too close to dark walk on the border of the other side one step beyond - and creature will rise I keep the inviolable balance

I keep the balance
time keeps the inviolable balance
my soul consists of two opponent parts one part is white so another is black I feel instinctive despair when it's so close to me I tried to run away but it's like like an opening door without a key
I understand that white or black force will never win in my mind this struggle inside me cannot be stopped it will be an eternal fight
so far from truth too close to lie
one step beyond - and creature will rise
