Shadows Fall, Enlightened By The Cold

When you never know Is when it's always there, It seemed so clear...

The slightest touch To catch the breath, It turns it all around

Single path that I can see, Emptiness devours me

Enlightened by the cold. It overcomes the torment. (What if I could bring you back?) Enlightened by the cold

Enough to burn through walls Built on anguish Can I be revived?

Let it hit with force Strong enough to blind. The numbness heals.

My worth is only defined By the next disaster