

Shael Riley, Arguing On The Internet

Moderator,
take this man away.
It's sedition,
what he has to say.

Well I've been staring down God from across the room.
It's been just about effective as you would assume and I've taken up a complaint against his angels.

I cannot abide by your stance on this issue
it pains me to even sit her but hey,
got bad priorities.

I cannot abide by your stance or missuses of language. Attack ad-hominem waste my time.

I've been arguing on the Internet
even when I win I lose.
Talking politics with Republicans is like selling Hitler on the Jews

When I bash my head against a wall
how much longer will it take,
'til my trite cliches and emo ways cause
all my street cred to evaporate.

I've got cases and evidence to bring but you can't teach god anything.

I've been criticizing a tautology represented by a falable oligarchy

I've been picking up their kids from school and their bullshit.

I've been arguing on the Internet
I've been nihilist I've been zen.
You're an egomaniac behind a faux well-meaning condescension

I finally understand why you let it go to your head.

I think this moderator had best be moderated. (x2)

I've been arguing on the Internet
don't know how this all got started.

It's like running in a wheelchair race;
even if you win, you're still retarded.

Backing myself into a corner
how much longer will it take,
'til my trite cliches and
emo ways cause
all my street cred to evaporate.