

Shane Barnard, Here We Go Again

here we go again i forgot about You today pass the salt to me don't pour it out well i might as well be cold i figured out it's all a waste of time

why you dig a well if you're gonna find it dry my friend? sharpen up that ax, don't chop it down well you might as well have laid the wet stone down
it's all a waste of time

how can i know this and still walk away?! my life, it's all a waste of time why you sippin java if you know you need your rest tonight? add some sugar please, some sweet and low and make it all decaffeinated so i won't stay up

it's all a waste of time

why prepare for battle if you're never gonna fight my friend? battle lines are drawn, negotiating with the Spirit can i make a deal on my own terms?
it's all a waste of time

how can i know this and still walk away?!
my life, it's all a waste of time to be in my, in my comfort zone Your life is the Truth, so worthy of my time!

here we go again i forgot about You today