

Shane Hebert, Let It Go

I see a stranger with a smile
Man, it's been awhile

Everybody has a secret
When will I have mine?

I see my picture in a frame
It's on the lawn and I am framed

Everybody has a secret
but It's not on my mind
Everybody tells the story
Like it was hard to find

Let it go Understand that this is real and don't ever let it go

My feelings are not set in stone
Seems my feelings aren't my own
I am so misled, I am so composed but I am home
I think that you should live again
Without ever thinking that you lived There's something in the way you cry but there's something in the way

I know you're feeling angry
I know you're feeling scared but anytime you feel lonely
You can call on me