

Shattersphere, Gravity

Here come my final ticks of time
Feel need to sweat but not to cry
Reflect upon my recent years
I have no regrets and I have no fears

I've always been a pretender
So how will I be remembered?
As I watch my life pass me by
I hold on to strands of time
No need for my insecurity
the universe is one with me

Soon we'll find a way
Past this blackened day
If what I hear is true
Then take me with you too

Now my eyes grow old and weak
Getting ready for eternal sleep
Here it is just seconds away
Who would have thought I'd die today

I have no fears
I have no lies
Ready to kiss my life goodbye

I've never been a pretender
This is how I'll be remembered