

Sherwood, Something Worth Knowing

Lately I've been, doing some thinking,
I guess that it's small like the last couple years,
I never would guess, all that it's taught me,
And I can't believe that it's brought me here,
I'm happy that you, know where you're going,
I wish I could say of myself that was true,
We both pursue, something worth knowing,
But I may not end with the same thing as you,

Wasn't there something you wanted to say?
About all the things that could get in our way,
If I am a martyr, will you be my flame, if it's all the same?

I'm counting the days, and counting the dollars,
Wondering how much I'm willing to spend,
To make us believe, that this is important,
There's only so long that I can pretend,

Wasn't there something that you wanted to say?
About all the things that could get in our way,
If I am a martyr will you be my flame, if it's all the same?
If it's all the same,

You could write me a letter,
You're not the only one,
You're not the only one,
If feels the way that you do, cause I feel it too,

Wasn't there something that you wanted to say?
About all the things that could get in our way,
If I am a martyr, will you be my flame, if it's all the same?

Wasn't there something that you wanted to say?
About all the things that could get in our way,
If I am a martyr, will you be my flame, if it's all the same?
